

(Editor's Note—The Brass Ring is good for one free ride on The Washington Merry-Go-Round. Today's prize-winner, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, will be followed by the other members of the Roosevelt Cabinet.)

WASHINGTON—Cordell Hull is a man who has developed the technique of keeping his eye on one thing, and it has made him a leading member of the Roosevelt Cabinet.

There is a story about Cordell Hull's father that is extremely applicable. At the close of the Civil War, he was attacked by Tennessee marauders posing as Northern soldiers. He was blinded in one eye, thrown over a cliff and left for dead.

Mr. Hull, senior, spent almost ten years saving his money, tracking the leader of that gang through the Southwest, finally caught him. As Secretary of State, his son Cordell has applied the feudal mountaineer's tenacity to all enemies of international trade.

During the writing of the Smoot-Hawley tariff he sat as a member of the Ways and Means Committee, helpless and protesting, while Republican members boosted the tariff to heights which the entire world unfortunately was to emulate.

And now, eight years later, having sworn death to high tariffs, Hull is tracking down the trade barriers of the United States and sawing them off to pre-Smoot-Hawley levels.

Tugwell's Friend
One of Hull's private desires is to become a friend of Brain Truster Rex Tugwell. He considers Tugwell to represent the epitome of liberalism in this country. Mr. Hull feels that he himself has not received enough recognition as a liberal and that Tugwell has paid no attention to him.

After all, Hull reminds his friends, he was the man who first introduced the income tax bill in the House of Representatives.

But when you pin Mr. Hull down regarding the trends of modern times, he is not quite as liberal as he supposes. On the question of John L. Lewis, for instance, the

P. M. A. MOTION TO REHEAR SUIT IS OVERRULED

Sast St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—The motion of the Progressive Miners of America for rehearing of a suit in which the United Electric Coal Co. was awarded a $117,000 judgment for business losses during a strike was overruled today by Federal Judge Fred L. Wham.

The judgment was entered against 14 locals and 55 individual members of the union.

The court held, however, that in review of the evidence it found damages had not been established against Locals No. 76 and 89, and judgments against them were dismissed.

Judge Wham disagreed with union counsel that the company's profits from its Red Ray strip mine near Freeburg, Ill., from September 7, 1934 to Jan. 20, 1936, were merely "postponed" rather than lost. He pointed out the company owned a large acreage, permitting operation over a long period, that expensive machinery depreciated rapidly through disuse and that the company, for the time, lost its return on its total investment.

"When capital investments, including machinery and equipment subject to depreciation are involved," he said, "time is valuable and costly, just as it is when personal services are involved." Attorneys for the PMA claimed damages granted the company were excessive because the coal still is in the ground and profit on its sale was not lost.

"The only loss the company properly should be allowed," argued George Hight, PMA attorney, "is the interest on profits which would have been realized if the mine had operated."

Farmer Believed Victim Of Church Fire Early Today

Johnson City, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Williamson county officials prepared today to search the ruins of the Harmony church, five miles northeast of here, in the belief that A. E. Winn, a farmer, had perished in the fire which destroyed the church early today.

Sheriff Zolte Carter said Winn's truck, parked beside the church, also was destroyed by fire. Officials believed Winn might have started a fire in the church and fallen asleep.

The church, organized 80 years ago, was said to be the oldest in the county.

SOVIET SHIPS RESCUE FOUR SCIENTISTS

Unique Odyssey On Arctic Ice Floe Terminated

Moscow, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Four Russian scientists who had been marooned for more than eight months on drifting Arctic ice were taken to safety today on the ice-breakers Taimyr and Murman.

The four men and all the equipment which they had been using for meteorological observations looking toward establishment of a Russian airline across the North Pole to the United States were loaded on the two rescue craft.

The four scientists, who had been planted near the North Pole by an aerial expedition May 21, were Ivan Papanin, 45, chief of the camp; Eugene Fedoroff, 28, astronomer; Peter Shirshoff, 34, marine biologist; and Ernest Krenkel, radio operator.

A terse radio message from the rescuers off the eastern coast of Greenland, more than 1,000 miles from where the camp was first located, said:

"Papanin, Fedoroff, Shirshoff and Krenkel, with all equipment, removed from ice floe by Taimyr and Murman, which are proceeding to Murmansk."

Long Isolation
Thus they were rescued from the sea-going floe, a 100 by 160-foot fragment of their original camping place, after a long and hazardous isolation.

The two icebreakers smashed through miles of pack ice, 10 feet thick, to reach the camp. For days they had fought crunching ice in the effort to gain the position three miles from the camp.

The men were living in a hut dug in the snow and ice when they reached them. Their first dwelling, when they set up camp, was a portable, fur-lined shack, which was ripped apart recently by an Arctic storm. The antenna mast of their wireless equipment was toppled over but the quartet set up the radio again to guide their rescuers to the little hut of snow.

While their unique odyssey over 1,000 miles of Arctic sea ended well for the four men, 13 lives were lost when the Soviet dirigible V-6 crashed February 6 in an experimental flight preparatory to an attempt to rescue them.

Their weather observations and soundings of the ocean in the polar basin throughout last summer and most of the winter will serve Soviet authorities in plans to span the pole with regular plane flights.

Nine Might Never See Father Again

Amsterdam, N. Y., Feb. 19.—(AP)—The nine children of Angelo Audi, 46, who is under sentence of 20 years in prison at Joliet, Ill., for murdering a woman, tried to keep back their tears today when told they might never see their father again.

Their mother accepted the news of Audi's conviction stoically. She and the children, ranging in age from 6 to 17 years old, are on relief. Audi disappeared nearly a year ago. He was convicted of fatally slashing Minnie Dianconi, 31, at Steger, Ill., last July.

Hell of a Trick

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—The "bouncing knife," a parlor trick, landed Joseph Ushman, 22, in St. John's hospital today, because the knife didn't bounce.

With a butcher knife poised point downward above his extended arm, Ushman told a group of admiring friends: "Now watch me make the knife bounce off my arm."

He suffered a severe gash in the forearm.

Floods Threaten Southwest After Thursday's Louisiana Wind Storm

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Three rivers and their numerous tributaries roared an ominous flood threat to Arkansas today while other sections of the south recovered from effects of storms which claimed at least 27 lives.

Hundreds of persons fled their lowland homes as the Ouachita, Arkansas and White rivers, swollen by a week's downpour, spilled their excess burden over thousands of farm lands. Army engineers said the predicted crests probably would bring greater flood problems than in 1935.

Relief workers at Rodessa, La., commenced rehabilitation work in the little oil field community where a tornado ripped through the residential section Thursday night, leaving more than 11 persons dead, 41 injured and four missing.

Hits Stride

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The House, passing an average of one appropriation bill for each of the seven weeks it has been in session, as approved to total expenditures of $28,056,891 under budget estimates.

The members yesterday approved without record vote a $130,097,052 bill for 1939 expenses of the state, justice, labor and commerce departments.

That brought to $3,816,410,353 the chamber's total allocations in five regular and two special appropriation bills. The budget bureau had recommended a total of $3,844,467,244.

DRIVER'S AWARD GOES TO ROSS C. DREW THIS WEEK

Truck Driver Demonstrates Unusual Care and Consideration

This week's award of $5 for courteous and careful driving, given by the Dixon Evening Telegraph and the Chicago Motor Club, is awarded to Ross C. Drew, 1002 N. Hennepin avenue, driver of a coal truck, who demonstrated unusual care and consideration in the handling of his truck on Dixon streets this morning.

Drew, who was driving a truck, No. C1446, left his employers' coal yards, Raymond & Son in North Dixon, with a heavily loaded truck this morning, and the Evening Telegraph observer, who knows that truck drivers are not always the most careful or courteous drivers, followed the truck to its destination. At each intersection the truck slowed up and at all stop streets the driver observed the law. At streets where no stop sign was indicated the driver nevertheless stopped and let oncoming cars get well in the clear.

Did Not Force Traffic
You've seen, perhaps, impatient drivers of trucks who swung their big heavy vehicles into the line of travel without regard for the through traffic, smug in the knowledge that their big heavy truck would be sufficient to force them the right of way whether they had a right to it or not. But Driver Drew did not force other traffic to get out of his way. He waited until the path was clear in every case. After coming into Peoria avenue from Boyd street, with proper precaution, he turned off Peoria going east on Second street, but only after waiting for all cars to get in the clear. The same thing happened at each intersection until he had reached his destination in the downtown section.

Mr. Drew has been notified to come to the Evening Telegraph office for his $5 check. The Chicago Motor Club is sponsoring the Evening Telegraph's efforts in impressing the people of this territory of the need for careful driving.

John Love's Love Affairs Unlovely

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Although an Illinois statute has blocked his extradition to Indiana, the love affairs of John Love, 54-year-old Pawnee miner, still remained tangled today.

Arrested on a fugitive warrant last December 27, Love contended that he married Sarah Swagerty in Terre Haute, Ind., in 1908, that later she left him and that he waited three weeks for her return. About a year later, he said he was informed she had obtained a divorce.

In that belief, he said, he married Sophia Payne at Pawnee in 1912. Mrs. Love No. 1 found last December where he was and swore out the warrant, charging she was deserted on that date.

However, his extradition was blocked by Illinois authorities who held he was not in Indiana at the time the purported offense was committed.

Reports Hit and Run Driver Here

Raymond Kleinhaus of Franklin Grove reported to the police last evening an accident which occurred at First street and Galena avenue. Kleinhaus stated that he was driving on Galena avenue, when a car bearing a license issued to H. B. Snodgrass of Oregon, failed to stop for the red light and crashed into his machine, tearing a hole in the fender and then proceeding without halting.

Arthur Butler of Amboy, reported to the police at 11 o'clock last night that his car had been stolen from Commercial alley between Hennepin and Galena avenues, where he had parked it about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, leaving the keys in the switch. Patrolman John Bohnstiel and State Officer Mahan found the car parked one block west in Commercial alley a short time later.

VERY DEADLY AERIAL BOMB IS INVENTED

Vinson, Experts Interested In Testing It

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House naval committee today suggested using part of a $15,000,000 experimental fund to test a mysterious new "aerial bomb" which the inventor said would revolutionize this country's defenses.

Vinson referred to a device which Lester P. Barlow, Stamford, Conn., inventor, said yesterday would force drastic alteration of the proposed $1,000,000,000 naval expansion program.

Barlow said the new bomb, dropped from tremendous heights, could "blanket" an area 10 miles square in three or four minutes and cripple even battleships by destroying the auxiliary ships which supply and augment the large war vessels.

Barlow told the committee he would not be satisfied with Vinson's proposal because he "would not even dare put my ideas in the patent office."

He indicated he feared rights to the invention would not be protected.

Earlier, Vinson read into the record a statement from the navy's judge advocate general asserting Barlow's "aerial mine" appeared to be still in the idea stage and had not been offered to either the navy or army. The statement said Barlow had been awarded a judgment against the government by the court of claims for about $600,000 for use of his inventions during the World War.

Contains "Halftruths"
Barlow declared details of his case against the government "will not even stand the daylight" and if investigated by Congress would "bring one of the greatest scandals ever seen."

During discussion of the judge advocate's letter, Barlow said it contained misstatements and "halftruths."

Questioned concerning a bill introduced by Senator Frazier (R-N. D.) to give him an advance of $15,000 from the judgment to permit him to develop the new bomb, Barlow said that was different from Vinson's proposal because it only asked for an advance of money the government owes me.

Millard W. Rice, legislative representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, endorsed the proposed naval increase, explaining he was willing to rely on the "national defense experts."

Earlier, a 23-year-old peace advocate told Congress an "appreciable minority" of American youth would not fight to defend this country under any conditions.

Louis W. Hilbert, Jr., speaking for the Baltimore peace conference, told the naval committee this "minority" was 100 per cent pacifist and had "conscientious objections" to bearing arms.

Philippine Wants Defense
A Philippine publishing magazine in this country told the committee America's defenses in the Philippines ought not to be relinquished "under any guise or pretext."

John Q. Tillson of Connecticut, former House Republican leader, appeared to support the testimony of Barlow, the inventor.

Meanwhile, members of the House military committee met with Chairman May (D-Ky.) and voted to restore universal draft provisions to pending legislation designed to prevent war profiteering.

The vote was 9 to 4, but May said that if the committee persisted in that stand, he would drop the whole measure and ask instead for House consideration of the more moderate Sheppard-Hill bill his committee reported last year.

Mt. Morris, Freeport People Victims of Confessed Chicago Slicker

Investment Broker is Held To Grand Jury Today

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Fred P. Pepperdine, 56, an investment broker, was held today for a grand jury hearing after confessing, Assistant State's Attorney John J. Phillips said, to embezzling $75,000 from 28 clients.

Two days ago Pepperdine appeared before Phillips and asked whether there were any complaints against him. The prosecutor replied in the negative. Whereupon, the prosecutor said his visitor declared:

"Well, there will be. I've taken $75,000 of my clients' money and they have nothing to show for it." The prediction was fulfilled. Phillips said several complaints were received, one from Louis McFerrin of Mt. Morris, Ill. The latter said he entrusted Pepperdine with $5,000 for grain market investments.

McFerrin said Pepperdine claimed to have an "unbeatable system" for conquering the market.

Former Army Captain
The broker said he was a former Army captain and had served in the Boxer rebellion and Philippine insurrection.

Assistant State's Attorney Nathan J. Kinnelly said many of those who lost through Pepperdine's operations were residents of Freeport, Ill., where he said Pepperdine formerly lived.

Clarence C. Walker, auditor for blue sky division investigators, said 19 persons lost $45,430 in cash and others lost securities. Walker listed these Freeport residents as losers:

H. S. Bennethuff, 1437 Stephenson street, $800.
Mrs. Zara H. Eccles, 710 West Stephenson, $2,604.73.
J. R. Jackson, 1128 West Stephenson, $9,703.69.

H. D. James, 8½ North Galena avenue, $3,162.94.
Dr. W. L. Karcher, 3 West Stephenson, $2,343.32.
M. G. Schaub, 1506 South Carroll avenue, $600.

W. J. Trevillian, care of W. T. Raleigh Company, $13,345.12.
Walker also said John L. Morley of Champaign, lost $100.

Ultior Election Motives Charged Tax Assessors

Benton, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—County Treasurer Byron Fuller testified in circuit court today that it was impossible to get a proper assessment against large mining companies because many of the tax assessors sought election "only for the purpose of forcing the mining companies to give them jobs."

Fuller alleged the assessors obtained the lowest possible assessments against the coal companies.

Fuller testified in the mandamus suit filed against the county by the trustee of the Aikin State bank, now liquidated, to show cause why the county should not pay an old $19,000 judgment obtained by the bank.

No Treatment

Zion, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Police Chief Alvin Reusch sought a sanity test today for Edward McNutt, 33, who he said had been confined for seven years in a small room of his parents' home without medical care for a mental illness.

The police chief said McNutt was injured about 10 years ago in a fall and never had recovered. McNutt's parents, Reusch said, were members of a denomination which believes in divine healing. They are Mr. and Mrs. R. R. McNutt, elderly truck farmers.

Through the sanity petition, filed in Lake county court at Waukegan, Reusch said he hoped to have McNutt committed to an institution.

SNOWSTORM IS WHIPPING THE MID-WEST AREA

Central Illinois Has One To Two Inches Of Snow

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—A snowstorm accompanied by fresh northeast winds whipped across several midwestern states into Chicago today, slowing the big city traffic and upsetting airline schedules.

Forecasters C. A. Donnel and the snow covered most of Missouri, southeastern Iowa and Illinois. There was local snow at La Crosse, Wis., although the sky cleared in other parts of the state.

Heavy snow during the past 24 hours in Kansas had stopped. A low ceiling and restricted visibility caused temporary cancellation of all flights at Chicago Municipal airport shortly after 7 A. M.

Later the control tower reported little likelihood of maintaining today's schedules.

Pilot J. S. Charles circled the field for 28 minutes before he was able to land his transport ship inbound from Miami, Fla., with seven passengers. He reported he flew north almost to Milwaukee, Wis., before that in an effort to get below the 300-foot ceiling.

Low Temperatures
Cold weather hit most of the Midwest, with Aberdeen, S. D., reporting 26 below zero last night. It was 30 above in Chicago at 8 A. M. but Donnel predicted a low of 20 tonight and colder tomorrow.

He forecast more snow tonight in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, and snow

They were met here by the following members of the technical staff of the Illinois Army Armory: Board: S. M. Eichberg, supervising architect, Oscar W. Rosenthal, Joseph E. Crum, chief engineer and E. ## Good as Her Word

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Clara Nardro's new Negro maid was as good as her word.

"I'd like to clean up here," said the maid after she had been hired.

An hour later Mrs. Nardro told police the maid had cleaned up $4,200 worth of jewelry, clothing and securities and had disappeared.

Week of Hunger and Exposure Is Too Much for 'Tough' Fugitives

Chester, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Neither offered resistance when Night Marshal Guy E. Rigdon and James Hanson, Chester newspaperman, made the capture.

An iron pipe-pole head, found near a burglarized grocery store, furnished the clue. The officer and the reporter hunted until they found the handle of the pipe-pole in an old warehouse nearby.

A few moments search showed Harrison and Florek crouched in a large wooden box.

ACCUSE TWO OF ATTEMPT TO BURN CAR

Dixon and Grand Detour Men To Face Charges

Henry O. Lowry of Grand Detour, 21, and Ben E. Toland, 27-year-old cab driver and former parolee from the Pontiac reformatory, were questioned yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber and taken to the county jail following several days investigation in which Chief Van Bibber, Fire Chief Sam Cramer and Arthur Sagana, investigator from the State Fire Marshal's office at Springfield, participated, as a result of Lowry's report last Monday night that his car had been stolen from Commercial alley, west of Galena avenue. The car was found the following morning in the Seven Mile branch creek, north of Lowell park, where it had been driven through a heavy guard rail plank fence.

Sheriff Ward Miller and Deputy Gilbert Finch conducted the first investigation when the car was found badly wrecked in the creek bed. The absence of tracks in the mud on either side of the creek and indications that a fire had been burning on the floor of the coupe aroused the suspicions of the officers. The wrecked car was hauled from the deep ditch and brought to a local garage where it has been held since, pending a thorough investigation, during which Investigator Sagana was summoned to Dixon to assist the local officers.

Report Confessions
Yesterday afternoon Lowry and Toland were questioned and both were reported to have signed confessions in the office of Chief Van Bibber before Chief Sam Cramer and Investigator Arthur Sagana, which resulted in their being taken to the county jail.

Lowry's statement to the investigators was that Toland offered assistance in disposing of the car, upon which payments were owed amounting to about $300. Lowry's statement disclosed that he had arranged to park the car in Commercial alley, west of Galena avenue, leaving the key in the switch, and Toland was to drive the car away and destroy it. For this service Toland was to have received the sum of $10 from the insurance which Lowry expected to collect.

Toland's confession related his taking the car from the parking place Monday night about 7:45 after Lowry had poured a half pint of gasoline on the floor, according to Toland's instructions. The cab driver drove the machine to the Seven Mile branch bridge north of Lowell park, where he said he lighted the oil soaked floor, then drove the car toward the deep ravine and walked back to Dixon.

Lowry and Toland were arraigned before Judge Cover W. Gehant in the county court this morning on informations charging each with attempted arson of an automobile. Bond was fixed at $1,000 in each case and the hearings continued for one week. Lowry furnished bond while Toland was remanded to jail in default of bail.

Mt. Vernonites Today Recall Tornado of 50 Years Ago

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—Fifty years ago today a tornado devastated this city. Thirty persons were killed, 1,250 were made homeless, 329 residents were blown away and 518 buildings were damaged badly.

Business papers were blown as far as Flora, 30 miles away. Civil war veterans found their G. A. R. banner in a tree a mile north of town. Grass was blown into the barks of trees. A cow was found dead with a ham hock blown through its skull.

These and many other bizarre tales were recalled by the older residents, most of whom have forgotten the more tragic aspects of the disaster, commemorated today in picture and story by the Mt. Vernon Register News.

The storm hit Mt. Vernon, then a country town of little more than 3,000 population, late on a Sunday afternoon. It swept across the most populated section, razing the court house and most of the business district on the public square.

The newly-born Red Cross organization responded quickly when news of the disaster finally reached the outside world days later. A local committee sent out appeals for funds when telegraph lines finally were repaired.

Miss Clara Barton, one of the Red Cross' best-known heroines, was at the height of her career at that time. She arrived here in the night and directed relief and rehabilitation activities for two weeks.

The Supreme Court building of Illinois was situated here then and the beautiful building, hardly touched by the storm, was turned into an emergency hospital. The Presbyterian church became a supply depot from which Miss Barton distributed food and clothing.

Only two policies for tornado insurance were held, one by the Baptist congregation, whose church was demolished.

TO RENT ENGINES

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

THE MIRAGE OF THE "FLYING DUTCHMAN"

Flying Dutchman' Weather

Popular superstitions nearly always have a firm foundation in fact. Superstition is merely an attempt by uninformed people to explain natural happenings in some logical way. Do you remember the story of the "Flying Dutchman"? The Dutchman's ship is a mirage, and the legend is built about the fact that under certain weather conditions ships at sea appear to be magnified and to float in the clouds.

Legend has it that a Dutch sea captain, a determined and hard-driving man, was trying to sail his ship against a strong westerly head wind south of the Cape of Good Hope, at the tip of Africa. These seas are notoriously stormy, and the Dutchman swore a mighty oath that he would drive his ship through it if it took him all eternity. The powers above accepted him at his word and occasionally to this day he may be seen trying to sail the waters of the Cape of Good Hope. Strange to say, too, the vision of his phantom ship has been reported in many other parts of the world, off Nantucket, off Cape Cod, off the Virginia Capes, near San Francisco Bay, near the British Isles, and off the coast of Spain. This vision of the Dutchman's ship is a mirage, caused by a small cold wave.

Cold waves are masses of air from the polar regions, which move bodily to more southerly latitudes. They cause blue skies and bright sunshine. Usually such polar air masses are quite large, but occasionally a small one will become detached from the main body and will move along over the ground, or sea, as a prism shaped formation of air.

Now a prism has the faculty of bending rays of light and if its sides are convex as well, it will magnify light as it bends it. In order for the mirage of the "Flying Dutchman" to appear there must be a real ship below the horizon, and in the line of sight of the observer and this prism of cold clear air. The light from this real ship passes through the prism and is bent and magnified so that to the observer the ship appears to be lifted above the horizon and to float amid the clouds.

Instances are known where objects eighty miles away have been visible from the surface of the sea.

due to mirage, and there is one recorded instance where the sun, itself, which had set some time previously, suddenly popped back into view, lifted by a mirage of the "Flying Dutchman" type.

'Pill Meals'

Farmers Have to Turn Chemists to Produce Them

The prophets of a synthetic age taking a long-range look at the future in foods, are predicting that: Chemically-produced foodstuffs and factory-synthesized foods may turn the farmer into a chemist.

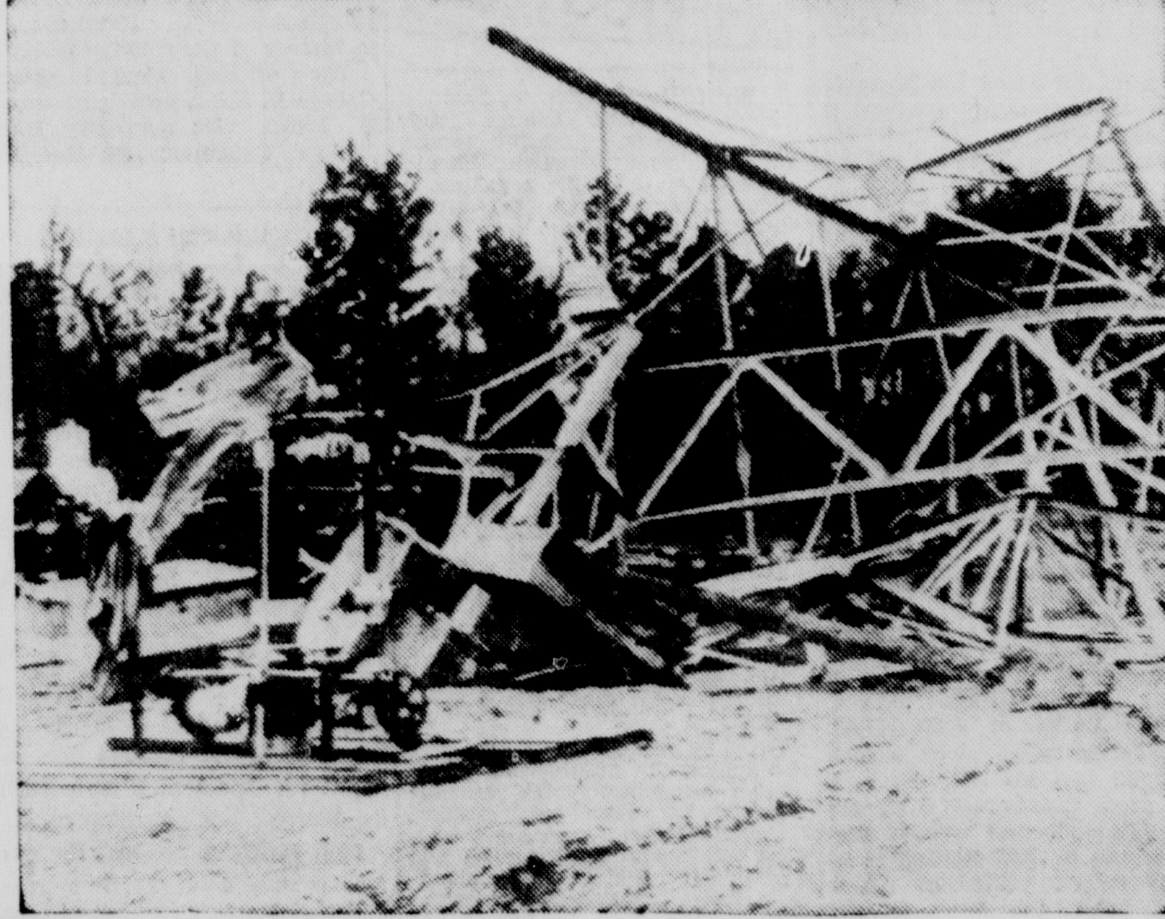

Many households will be buying single-packaged, pre-fabricated meals.

Increased doctoring of soil, plants and food-producing animals to vitaminize and improve quality of foods.

Foods now unknown or little used will become the most popular because of their reputed therapeutic value. Striking precedents: The spinach and lettuce booms, the once-lowly liver's leap to popularity and to the high-price bracket. Breakfast and luncheon in pellets and dinner a la capsule will be available for emergency use.

Growing popularity today of partly-prepared and ready-to-serve food combinations indicates that food stores of tomorrow will do a

CHARGE FORMER POLICEMEN WITH BEING BOMBERS

Three Los Angeles Men Accused in Grand Jurors' Report

Los Angeles, Feb. 19—(AP)—Three suspended police officers were under indictment today on charges they tried to murder Harry Raymond, private detective, with a bomb.

The men, Earle Kynette, ex-acting captain of the police intelligence unit, and two of his aides, Fred A. Browne and Roy J. Allen, were booked at county jail without bail.

The county grand jury late yesterday indicted them on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, attempted murder, assault with intent to commit murder and malicious use of explosives.

Superior Judge Clarence Kincaid set Wednesday for their arraignment.

The jury recommended that the defendants be held without bail. Counsel for the accused men will argue in court Monday for their release.

Details of Charges

The indictment climaxed a jury session at which Kynette and other police officers refused to testify.

The jury charged that last September Kynette ordered a house rented near the Raymond residence. Thereafter, the true bill alleged, members of his "spy squad" occupied the house and closely observed Raymond's movements.

Raymond was seriously wounded January 14 when he stepped on the starter of his automobile, causing explosion of a bomb secreted in the machine.

The bombing fired an assembly investigation of vice and corruption in Los Angeles.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—A man and woman who told police they were from California were held in jail today after a 60-year old druggist, Joshua Holland, reported he thwarted an attempted robbery of his store by fighting a hand-to-hand battle with the couple until police arrived.

They were booked at police headquarters as Laurence Benson, 25, of San Francisco, and Thelma Stevens, 26, of Fresno. Police Chief Leo Kamins said charges of robbery while armed would be filed against them.

Holland told police he was in the basement when the man entered the store and held up his wife and a clerk. He ran upstairs and grappled with the man. He said the woman alighted from an automobile at the curb and came to the aid of the gunman. Holland fought both of them until a police squad, summoned by Mrs. Holland, placed the couple under arrest. During the melee the man's gun was discharged into the floor.

Chief Kamins said the couple told him they had arrived in Peoria only a half hour before they were seized.

Americans of today do not eat as much meat per capita as did the gastronomic giants of the kerosene lamp era, but we still are a meat-eating people.

Consumption of cereals has declined in the last 25 years. We don't eat as much bread and butter as we did but we drink more milk.

Ice cream and candy consumption keeps gaining while the craze for salads shows no signs of abating. We are becoming more and more a coffee drinking nation but our per capita consumption of tea has declined considerably.

Two recent developments which give promise of further expansion are the popularity of fruit and vegetables juices and the quick freezing of vegetables, meats and fruits to preserve full flavor.

Retail Buying Shows Gradual Gain This Week

New York, Feb. 19—(AP)—Retail buying at leading centers of distribution this week was one to five per cent above last week, but three to six per cent under a year ago for the country as a whole, Dun & Bradstreet reported Friday.

Wholesale buying was curtailed, and ran from five to twelve per cent under last year, the credit agency said.

In spite of reduced payrolls, retailers have been encouraged by the strength of consumer purchasing thus far this year, though alertly cognizant of the definite indications of "weakening," the agency asserted.

"The moderate increase in sales this week," it added, "was contributed chiefly by products in the super-price brackets, even though some improvement was felt by merchants serving the wage-earner class of trade."

Motor cars are sometimes an eighth on an inch longer in summer, due to expansion of metals in hot weather.

Kump, son of Mrs. Ida Kump of 623 Second street, Dixon. Rev. C. H. Becker of the Presbyterian church performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of 30 friends and relatives.

At 2:30 the bride entered the beautiful living room on the arm of her father, to the strains of "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, sung by Mrs. B. J. Ritchie and Melvin Frost, preceded by the matron of honor.

The bride was met by the groom and best man, George Kump, brother of the groom, at an improvised altar which was banked with palms, ferns, and the season's cut flowers in the bride's chosen colors of yellow and orchid. For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of dusky pink crepe, trimmed in American Beauty roses, cut on princess lines which hung floor length. Her slippers were of contrasting color. Her shower bouquet was of Johanna Hill and American Beauty roses, edged with white sweet peas. ## SCOUTS FROM 3 TROOPS TO MEET BOARD OF REVIEW

The Boy Scouts of Dixon, East Jordan and Prairieville will have an opportunity to appear before a board of review to be examined on their requirements for Second Class, First Class, Star, Life, and the various merit badge requirements.

The board will be in charge of Judge Grover Gehant who is chairman of the Dixon division advancement committee. Judge Gehant has just recently been appointed to the chairmanship of this committee and has for his assistants on the committee the following men of Dixon: Fred Hofmann, W. C. Kleaveland, Elwin Wadsworth, J. C. Ryan and the advancement member of each of the troop committees.

The board of review will be held in the county court room of the court house on Tuesday evening. Reviews will start at 7 o'clock and continue until all have been taken care of. Candidates should appear between 7 and 7:30. Each candidate should have his record card or application together with any exhibit material that may have been prepared for the requirements that can conveniently be brought to the review meeting.

This is being done to afford an opportunity for all scouts to make regular advancement in ranks. Regular advancement means much to the Scout as well as to the troop as it helps to increase interest in Scouting. Each troop should have at least ten per cent of its membership advance in rank each month in order to promote a good healthy troop situation.

BIG NAMES IN NEW YORK A. C. TRACK MEET

New York, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Old Pop Time and his stop-watch are in for another night at hard labor tonight as the Cunninghams, the Johnsons, the Herberts and the Lashes bring the indoor track and field season back to Madison Square Garden's banked boards in the annual New York A. C. meet.

Miller Glenn Cunningham, sprinter Ben Johnson, middle-distance ace Jim Herbert and two-mile Don Lash all put their undefeated season records on the line in their specialties in a meet that has "class" in every event.

Sellout Indicated
As usual, the "big names" and their ever-present threat of chopping a tenth-second here or a full second there from the listed records, are attracting the customary sell-out card to the big Eighth avenue sports palace.

There's a chance, too, that any or all of them may shave some time out of the record books. Cunningham hopes to do it too, if you consider his 4:10 performance at Boston last week when he made his own race with no pressure. Johnson, Columbia's speedster, already has lopped two-tenths of a second from the 60-yard mark. Herbert, winner of eight straight races, has his eye on the 57.6 mark Eddie O'Brien posted in this same meet a year ago, and, last but not least, Don Lash is the menace among two-milers any time out.

Daniel Defoe is sometimes referred to as the first journalist.

Politics Democrats Make Plans For State Drive to Start Thursday

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—From the latest primary campaign strategy conference of Horner, Congressman Scott W. Lucas and Speaker Louie E. Lewis, key figures in the state administration's Democratic faction, came announcements today that:

1. Lucas, running for the senate, considers the major issue at this time to be that "by all of the rules of the game downstate Illinois is entitled to a senator."

As the three men held a joint press conference, Lucas said national issues would be developed during his speaking tour but indicated his part in drafting the new farm aid law would get emphasis. The downstate-Cook county issue is to be aimed at Michael L. Igoe, district attorney at Chicago, who has been backed by many of the anti-Horner Democrats.

2. Lewis denied "rumors from opposition sources" that he might drop out of the race for state treasurer. Predicting his election, the speaker said he "welcomed" the chance to run as a supporter of President Roosevelt and Governor Horner.

3. Lucas, Lewis and their running mates will open their campaign at Decatur next Thursday night, a day earlier than had been planned.

4. Whether the governor will take the stump hasn't been determined, but he said he had no plans.

5. F. Lynden Smith, the administration's campaign manager, denied he would enter candidates against Senator James O. Monroe of Collinsville or other district candidates, saying the question of who would run was to be determined locally. The question of who might be supported or opposed at the polls hasn't been decided, he said.

6. The governor said his downstate committee had endorsed a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, but made no further comment about reports his men would back Leo B. Walsh of Toluca.

From the Decatur meeting, the Horner-backed candidates will split into two groups on Friday, each making from four to six speeches a day and taking in two meetings on some evenings.

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A bandit scooped $60 from a chain store cash register and took a wallet containing $4 from Manager Frank Thorpe came back for a second visit.

This time he got $20 from the money drawer, then turned to Thorpe and asked for his wallet.

"Not today," said Thorpe, "you got that the last time and I have not carried one since."

A recent survey shows nearly 2,000 families in Washington, D. C., still use water pumped from wells.

OREGON Firemen's Frolic Is Big Success At Oregon Last Night

By Wm. E. Ziegenfuss
Oregon, Feb. 19.—The "Firemen's Frolic" held last night in the Oregon Coliseum was a grand success. An exceptionally large crowd was present, filling the large spacious floor of the building. The Oregon Juvenile band consisting of 43 pieces furnished a very select program of music under the direction of Prof. L. M. DeArvil.

The home talent play, "Oh! What a Night" was well received amidst much laughter and applause by the audience. A large amount of credit was due to Miss Azalia Winfrey, for the exceptionally fine manner in directing the players. The cast of the play handled their parts as only veteran "trouper" of the stage might do. To Miss Azalia Winfrey and the cast, a beautiful basket of flowers was given by the department as appreciation of the fine work and splendid performances given. Between acts of the play, additional home talent provided the audience with a "Dutchman" dance by Carol Berg and Sally Burke. The Johnson sisters, Eloise and Dorothy, gave a realistic interpretation of "Cowboy Songs." Last but not least was the comic "Foolish Fire Fighters" quartet, composed of Neil Allen, Joe Reed, Philip Nye and Gerald Fearer, rendering several songs in "Barber Shop" harmony that really put the audience in a hilarious mood. At the conclusion of the show, Colonel Mel Roe, of Chana, acted as master of ceremonies for the many donations given by the fire department in cooperation with the merchants of the city.

The Oregon fire department extends their appreciation to all that participated in making the "frolic" a grand success. With the money received from this benefit, the department purposes to purchase additional fire fighting equipment. The purchase of a water-carrying unit and other accessories that are to be used in fighting fires in farming localities, especially as relates to aid extended to rural districts where lack of water on the farms is a serious handicap to fire fighting effectiveness.

ASKS INCREASE OF RELIEF FUND TO 400 MILLION

Present Fund Rated Inadequate To Meet Needs

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Senator Bone (D-Wash.) said today he would ask the Senate to increase the $250,000,000 supplementary relief appropriation, possibly to $400,000,000.

Bone said he was studying all available data on relief needs. He added:

"From what I know of the situation now, it appears that the $250,000,000 appropriation bill will be entirely inadequate to take care of the unemployed until July 1."

The emergency appropriation would supplement what is left of the $1,500,000,000 appropriated for this year, and keep about 2,000,000 persons on WPA rolls.

See Little Chance
Senator Frazier (R-ND), said he would support a move to increase the total, but Senator Schweilenbach (D-Wash.) indicated he believed there was little chance of boosting the amount.

Administration leaders said they believed the amount asked by President Roosevelt would be appropriated. They recalled that the House, in approving the requested amount Wednesday by a 352-23 vote, easily defeated a motion to raise it to $400,000,000.

The Senate appropriations committee reported the bill favorably late yesterday, after striking out a clause the House had inserted to forbid assistance to aliens temporarily in this country.

Tax Revision Bill Approval Agreed On By Committeemen

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee in tentative agreement on basic changes in the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes, agreed today to give final approval to its tax revision bill early next week.

The members went rapidly over key provisions yesterday and finished consideration of 180 of the measure's 334 pages.

They accepted a sub-committee's proposals to retain only the principle of the undistributed profits levy and to "smooth out" the capital gains tax.

The two taxes have been the target of severe criticism from businessmen and legislators on grounds they had discouraged business expansion and investment in production.

The full committee will meet five enterprises. Monday to tackle the last half of the bill.

DEMOLAY GUEST GRADUATE OLD DIXON SCHOOL

Frank I. Buckingham of Kansas City, Mo. Grand Orator of the Grand Chapter of DeMolay visited Dixon last November and his fine address at that time won him many friends who are delighted at the opportunity of hearing him again next Wednesday evening when he will be the honored guest at the ninth annual anniversary banquet of the local DeMolay chapter.

Buckingham will be remembered by many Dixon College Alumni as a winner of the oratorical contest held in the old Dixon opera house in 1897. After graduating from Dixon college he went to Kansas City where he became a famous railroad attorney. Since his retirement a few years ago he has been active in youth movements, especially the DeMolay, of which he was one of the founders. Special tables will be provided for the alumni of Dixon college and "Dad" Buckingham writes that he is looking forward to a great time renewing old friendships and meeting the twenty five boys that form the "Dad Buckingham Class" which has just been initiated into the order.

The Worshipful Master of Bloomington lodge will head a delegation of ten from that city and reservations are being received from other towns in northern Illinois and from Clinton, Iowa.

Those desiring to hear this gifted speaker should secure tickets from DeMolay members or phone Harold C. Cook at 678 for reservations, by Monday.

BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT

"The best thing that could happen to this country would be the election of a hundred business men to congress," said Bruce Barton, new congressman, who made his reputation as an expert in advertising.

Mr. Barton is giving us nothing new. Long we have heard that we want a business man at the head of this government and that, which may have fallen to low estate. Occasionally a community is aroused by the slogan and does put a business man in charge. Nine times out of ten the result is that the politicians run rings around him, unless he has had political training along with business training.

Government is a business that is not conducted along lines of other business. In a democracy or a representative republic, the man in the government has to get elected. Hence, he must do the things that appeal to masses, either by promising them more or by appealing to their prejudices as to religion or race or class.

We have gone along 150 years as a representative republic and have maintained fairly high standards. Worst practices have been in our municipal governments, which have been typified by Tammany hall, the political machines in Chicago, Minneapolis, and Kansas City. In the last named place the federal officers are occupied convicting the persons guilty of vote frauds. Chicago recently went through a similar experience.

State governments have been on a higher plane. Even a man who has risen to the governorship through the benefit of machinations of corrupt city governments often so is hedged about by men of higher aims and better training, and by the traditions of good government that have been attached to the office of chief executive of the state, that he rises to a new level instead of dragging down the office to which he has been elevated.

Our national government has been maintained through the 150 years on a plane that scarcely could be expected in circumstances that permit such low standards in municipal government and political machines.

Not since Andrew Jackson took office with the slogan that to the victors belong the spoils and began turning out the faithful public servants and installing political henchmen has our form of government known as a representative republic been reduced to such a low political standard as has been in existence during the last five years.

Let there may be some misunderstanding of what we mean, we challenge any one to name a single practice known to the metropolitan political machines, from the underworld up, that does not involve a jail sentence, which has not been put into practice in the national government as a means of extending political control or carrying elections.

It is an example of political machinations and mass appeals reaching to lowest depths.

General Johnson dealt with the subject of business in government and politics in government in a recent broadcast. He explained why business men can not understand the conduct of congress or a political executive, and why congress and the executive fail to conduct the business of government along lines approved in business. Business does not base its action on a coming election.

"We had a business man in the White House once, a very able business man," said General Johnson. "That was Herbert Hoover. But Mr. Hoover was not a politician and he failed of being returned to the presidency." Then he added:

"As a business man, President Roosevelt is a good politician."

That, we think, states the case of business in government, and "politics" in government succinctly and with the most practical illustration possible.

The people do not want business in government, and the people run the government.

Let one man offer to conduct the government along business principles, and let another man make promises that are certain to leave an unbalanced budget, an increased debt, and abandonment of business principles and an enthronement of political and class appeals, and which would be elected?

PRIDE OF CITIZENSHIP

The nation could use a few more folks like Lawrence Nody of Tremont, Ill., born on a Swedish island in the Baltic Sea.

Nody, although 90 years old, walked and hitchhiked 17 miles to Peoria recently to obtain his final citizenship papers. He returned home the same way. He hadn't learned until recently that he failed to obtain final papers when he arrived in 1891.

Here's a man—aged, infirm nearing the century mark—who was willing to travel 34 difficult miles to ensure his right to vote.

And lots of native-born citizens won't walk around the corner to cast a ballot.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Secretary of State sputters and fumes. The CIO chief he considers to be nothing short of a menace to society.

And when it came to following previous international precedents regarding the Spanish Government, Mr. Hull let his career boys push him into a position much more favorable to the Fascists.

Even at the Pan-American Conference in Montevideo, Mr. Hull balked privately at giving U. S. approval to a resolution banning intervention in the internal affairs of other nations—such as the landing of U. S. Marines in Nicaragua. The Secretary of State considered this a very unwise thing to do.

"Can we permit armed bands to run amok?" he exclaimed, "let them despoil our property, ravage our women, and then deny ourselves the rights of redress?"

But when foreign ministers of Chile and Argentina delivered glowing harangues on the question, Mr. Hull saw that it was expedient to follow suit, with the result that he returned from the conference a hero.

Vague Executive

When the Secretary of State roars into action on his trade treaties, he is a rare sight to behold. He knows the principle of what he wants and goes after it. He is adamant against compromise.

But regarding some other foreign policies he fumbles the ball. When it comes to the Far East, probably the most important problem before him, Hull has definite ideas and is eloquent privately in expressing them.

But upon various other problems he is incoherent, vague and inarticulate. He has no capacity for details, which would not be a handicap were it not for the fact that the detailed execution of a foreign policy may make or break it.

The career diplomats know this weakness and are inclined to push and pull their chief into positions the significance of which he does not realize until it is too late.

The Secretary is also torn between the career diplomats and the Farley political appointees, so that he swings first to one side, then to the other, with the result that the general standard of diplomatic appointments is worse than under Hoover.

Razberries

Not long ago Secretary Hull was solemnly officiating at the draw for the Davis Cup tennis matches in the patio of the Pan-American Union. He stood beside an Aztec fountain, with tropical palm trees overhead and a green and red Nicaraguan macaw cocking an eye from a perch at one side.

Newsmen with cameras and sound equipment recorded every act and word.

Before putting his hand into the silver urn to make the draw, Mr. Hull delivered a short speech emphasizing the importance of "good sportsmanship and international goodwill."

At which point the macaw let out a raucous screech of disdain. Hull, who has a sense of humor, joined in the laughter.

Too Much Patience

Today, while Mr. Hull plods along with his trade treaties, his policies, meritorious as they are, are getting the "bird" in large parts of Latin America.

While he has been content to issue patient platitudes regarding Good Neighbor policy and Pan-American peace, German Nazis and Italian Fascists have invaded South America with a dynamic program of propaganda, cheap munitions, newspaper subsidies, tours of pro-

Brain Twizzlers

PROF. J. D. FLINT

If you are a plumber it's no fun working this one although it might fool you even at that.

While building a palatial athletic club a problem came up with regard to the filtering system to be used for the swimming pool. Ultra violet ray machines were to condition the water as it passed through a small tank before entering the pool. The problem was whether to have a two-inch pipe carry the water into the small tank or to have two one-inch pipes carry the water into the small tank or to have two-inch pipes serve the same purpose.

Would a two-inch pipe fill the tank at the same speed, more quickly or less quickly than two-inch pipes?

fessors and free tuition for Latin and Italy.

The fault has been Hull's only by negation. He has made some moves to counteract the Fascist program, but when he proposed an American Government radio station he let Jimmy Roosevelt, who once sold insurance to the big broadcasters, come in and sidetrack him.

In preserving international peace, patience is a great virtue, but Mr. Hull carries patience almost to the point where he is willing to continue with trade treaties while the world burns up around him.

Even so, in Mr. Roosevelt's shining Cabinet of mediocrities, Cordell Hull stands out like a shining beacon.

SOCIAL INSECURITY

"Rest for old age—work for youth."

How necessary it has become to our nation that this Townsend slogan be put into effect, but how little some people in Dixon realize the truth. I say Dixon because millions of men and women in other parts of the country are working hard to end the conditions caused by social insecurity, through the enactment of the General Welfare act. And, while Dixon has three Townsend clubs with a combined membership of nearly 1,000, yet only a few of these members are loyal, earnest workers, the rest are waiting as some of them say, "until the rest of you get your $200 a month and then I will help you spend it." One business man when asked to join the club said: "It is foolish to think that all the old bums around town can spend that much money." He was asked if he was not spending more than that himself and his reply was, "Oh, yes, but that's a different proposition. I have a home and business to support." My answer was, "What makes bums out of a majority of men, simply the lack of work and money and thousands of them and business to support them when the Townsend General Welfare act became a law. Others say, 'It has been so long now that it never will be passed.' Do the boys from Over There remember how long it took to get the bonus? One war mother here in Dixon waited eight years to receive her much deserved compensation, but through the unceasing efforts of a faithful attorney, they won out at last.

Then some argue that the money can never be raised to pay such a monthly income. Well, I cannot at this time, give all the facts and figures of the plan, but our clubs throughout Illinois have raised funds to enable a group of men who can and will explain in full details, all the particulars to any who are interested in the welfare of themselves and their fellow men. Tune in to WCFL at 9:45 every Tuesday night and learn these facts. Then join one of our local clubs, and we have fine social events, good music, dancing and card games for those who are interested and other amusements for those who do not care for that type, and most of the time, free lunch thrown in for good measure. What more can one ask for such a small sum to help further such a humanitarian cause.

CHAPTER XVI

CORLEY proved to be a score of shabby fishermen huts located to the right of the King's Highway, between marsh grass and booming sea. Their excuse for being was a shallow harbor that all but vanished at low tide. It was a dejected spot.

Polly, having been put down there with her dog and trunk, looked after the departing coach with a regret that bordered on panic.

She noted one house in the village that seemed to be an inn. Though not less ramshackle than its neighbors, it was larger and carried a sign. Polly dragged her trunk from the roadside and pulled it along a sandy path to this building. Arrived there, she left Nuisance to stand guard while she entered the inn. She was leaning heavily on her stick and frowning sharply.

"Where can I find John McGean?" she asked the room at large.

A man in a dirty apron, evidently the keeper of this unwholesome place, answered her. "Ye're in luck, old dame. The Sea Serpent, 'is boat, 'is anchored off Corly today. Just in, 'e is, from a little trip, and soon to put out. . . . Look! There 'e comes along the wharf."

POLLY went outside and stooped to give Nuisance a reassuring pat, for the little dog was looking uneasy and restive.

The skipper, who had just come ashore from an ugly two-masted lugger with patched brown sails, was large and forbidding. He had heavy handsome features, coal black hair that he wore in a queue, and bold prominent eyes.

"If you are John McGean," she said to this man, "I have business with you."

"Then speak it. Time's valuable," he stared hard at her.

Polly spoke her business, and commanded. She talked to him urgently, but since money talks best in the long run, she offered him what she could afford to pay and still keep enough to carry her to Cherbourg. For this he grudgingly agreed to convey her across the Channel to a fishing port near Calais. He was sailing that night, he said, if the wind was favorable. Sometime around ten he would come to the wharf in a dory and get her.

"I've a small trunk," Polly told him in a voice that she strove to make old and weary. "I'll have it here on the dock." But she did not speak of her dog.

When black night had fallen Polly dragged her trunk to the wharf and sat down to wait. It seemed safer here than in that evil inn, and the air was certainly better. This was the same star-filled sky, she reminded herself, that had covered her at home, and these waves were but a part of the same restless Atlantic that broke in white foam on the coast of Connecticut. This water was a part of the sea, and the sea to-night bore Jerry on its breast, so she must love this water, and not fear it. Whenever Nuisance gave one of his low ominous growls she soothed him, being calm herself.

After a while she heard the grating of oarlocks and the muffled splash of oars. A dory appeared, and when it had docked, the smuggler's large figure loomed out of it and approached her.

Though he handled the little trunk as though it were a feather, he grumbled his displeasure at having to take it into the boat, and when he saw the dog his grumbling turned to oaths.

"Ye can't take that beast aboard," he decreed, "with its barkin' and yippin'!"

"You've not heard him bark or yip. The worst he does is to growl a little. You'll take him or I'm not going. You've not got my money yet."

A pause, then, "Come aboard, but if 'e barks, 'e gets the belayin' pin to quiet 'im."

Nuisance lay on Polly's lap in the rowboat and made no sound; and when they reached the lugger Polly carried him on board with caution and apprehension.

The crew, she calculated, numbered a dozen men. They looked like the dregs of France and Spain and Portugal, picked less for strength than cunning. They eyed her and the dog with lowering expressions, and she deemed it best to glare back at them, giving them as good as they sent in ill will.

She followed McGean aft to the cabin. The swinging lamp had a sooted chimney but it managed to reveal as dismal a skipper's retreat as Polly had ever set eyes on. The scarred bulkheads were hung with weapons—muskets, cutlasses and knives; torn rigging lay about; boxes and bales stood everywhere. In one corner was an iron strong box with heavy padlock.

The man now opened this with a brass key he carried. "I'll 'ave your passage money," he said; and when Polly took it from her pocket and counted it out for him he clutched it hastily and locked it away. "I've 'ardly asked ye enough," he added thoughtfully.

Polly turned inside out her voluminous pocket and said like an irritated old woman, "Not enough, you robber? You've got it all!"

This mollified him and he told her to make herself at home. "We'll be sailin' inside the hour."

LEFT alone in the cluttered cabin, Polly leaned back against a pile of canvas and listened to the tramp of feet, the harsh voices and the running up of sail that was taking place above. Presently the small lugger was under way and the shouting ceased. Weariness overcame Polly and she slept.

She awakened to a low growl from Nuisance. Stilling him, she got up and looked from a porthole that gave to landward. The lugger was at rest, anchored off a cove which a rising moon showed to be cliff lined and chalky, but broken by a dark ravine. A laden rowboat was approaching the lugger from the cove; in the dark ravine two lanterns bobbed like fireflies. . . . So this was the way smuggled goods was landed and sent to sea!

As a keg was hauled aboard, Nuisance barked. Polly, in consternation, slapped him so violently that he retreated behind a bale, howling in a very injured way. Polly dived after him and brought him out, catching a lock of hair on a bayonet point as she did so, and pulling off her wig.

As she arose with the dog in her arms, the door opened and McGean entered. He stared at her as she stood at bay, tall and straight and surprised. Short brown hair covered her head, curling stubbornly in the damp sea air. Her cheeks and lips were scarlet, her eyes wide. A torn sleeve revealed a round white arm.

"So ye be a young one," he laughed unpleasantly. "And a French aristocrat to boot. I'll be bound. 'Well, I'm French too, but not your kind. From now on call me Jean Clitte!"

He took a bright-striped scarf from a sea chest and bound it around his head, transforming himself, by that simple act, into a Latin. It was evidently what he had come into the room to do. Yet the thing that he did next had not been a part of his plans.

After he had gone from the cabin and closed the door, he locked it after him.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

Answer to Question No. 1—

1. Perfectly correct. H. D. Kitson, psychologist, in his helpful book, "I Find My Vocation," shows women are blocked from many vocations. Of the 11,863 veterinary surgeons in the U. S., only 11 are women; of the 226,249 technical engineers, only 113 are women; of the 148,848 ministers only 3,276 are women. And so on. Only the exceptional woman has the nerve to enter many fields. Furthermore, about three-fourths of educated women choose teaching or secretarial work. Women are certainly up against a much narrower range of choices than men.

Answer to Question No. 2—

2. Grace Smith reasoned that no man is so rich that he has forgotten his boyhood delight in robbing the ice box and, as related in The Independent Woman, on this theory she started her cafeteria in Toledo 21 years ago, which now seats 600 persons and is one of the show places of the city. Whether true or false, the theory worked.

Answer to Question No. 3—

3. Twenty-six years ago one of the most influential books of modern times came out, "The Mind that Found Itself," by Clifford Beers, who cured himself of gross insanity. Now comes another great book, "A Mind Misled" by Henry Collins Brown—another man cured of insanity. Mr. Brown, now 75—looks 55—went through a hospital for the insane and describes how he was cured—by aiding the doctors. He says you may mislay your mind temporarily but cannot possibly lose it. The work of Irving Lorge, psychologist, showing mental power never declines, seems to be in line with Mr. Brown's experience. Hope for the mentally sick is increasing rapidly.

DIXON EVENS SERIES WITH STERLING 25-19

Only DeKalb Game Here Remains On Schedule

Victory number six was chalked up consecutively by Dixon high's strong-rallying team at Sterling Friday night, as the locals squared accounts with another rival for an early season defeat and pointed toward one more revenge battle in Dixon next Friday night, the return engagement with the DeKalb Barbs, newly-crowned champions of the North Central conference.

DeKalb assured itself of the undisputed honor last night by soundly trouncing Rochelle, 39 to 19. The Barbs held a 25-19 victory over Dixon. This game should bring to the Dixon high gym the largest audience of the season outside the regional tournament which begins Wednesday, March 2.

Usual Enthusiasm Missing
Aside from a lack of the usual enthusiasm, the Dixon game with Sterling at the Coliseum last evening was as hard-fought as ever. The Sharpshooters were not at all sure of winning until well into the third quarter when the locals stopped Sterling's attack cold and Bevilacqua, Ankeny and Eddie Callahan teamed to sink six out of six free throw chances to boost the locals into a healthy lead of 20 to 10. Dixon got away to a fast first quarter start, 4 to 1, but at the end of the frame Sterling overtook the Purple and White Sharpshooters to tie the count at 5-5 on March 2.

The second period was the hardest-fought of all the portions of the game. Salzman, later sent from the game on fouls, sank a free throw putting Dixon ahead, 6-3, and Thomas was fouled by Ankeny getting a chance to throw the score into a tie again, 6-6. Bevilacqua sank a free shot and Bentley was fouled whereupon he dropped in two free shots, giving Sterling an 8-7 advantage, the only time Township enjoyed it the entire game. Before the half ended, however, two quick goals by Eddie Callahan beneath the Sterling hoop started the locals on their victory sprint.

Rallies Too Late
Sterling came back desperately in the waning moments of the game with Bentley arching in miraculously long shots but time was too short and the Sharpshooters employed a clever stalling game to defeat Sterling's objective.

In the lightweight game Sterling was held without a point the entire last half after leading the Purple, 7 to 4, in the first half. The Dixon minors kept in the running for the lightweight N. C. I. championship, but must defeat DeKalb next week to assure themselves of a slice with Belvidere of these coveted honors.

O'Neal Says Trade Pact is Challenge to Big Industries
Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Edwards A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, tossed a challenge today to the country's manufacturers when he asserted the proposed reciprocal trade agreement with the United Kingdom offers a "real test whether industry is going to take a purely selfish attitude."

"The proposed agreement," O'Neal said in an address prepared for delivery today before the National Farm Institute, "offers the largest opportunity yet presented to secure concessions for our agricultural exports in the largest potential market in return for concessions to the United Kingdom on her industrial products."

There should be a fair relationship between the duties on agricultural products as compared with industrial products, the farm bureau president asserted, adding the tariff structure in this country has "been stacked against the American farmer for the last half century."

"I do not mean a ton of protection for industry to every ounce of protection that is given agriculture," he declared, "One of the most important aspects of the reciprocal trade program is the hope it offers for breaking the strong hold of monopolies. This is one of the greatest problems confronting the American people."

KNACKS BEATEN IN FIRST ROUND OF SECTIONAL

Drop Contest To Baltic Lodgers 42-31; 3 Games Played

(Telegraph Sports Service)
Mt. Morris, Feb. 19.—The Baltic Lodge basketball team from Rockford eliminated Dixon's only Northwest Illinois independent sectional tournament entrant, the Knacks Leaders here Friday night 42 to 31. In other first round games the Union M. E. church team of Mt. Morris was beaten by Steward 44 to 29 and the Sterling Community A. C.'s beat the Freeport Kerwin Shoe team 30 to 28.

Against the Baltic Lodgers the Knacks sputtered into a 13-11 first quarter lead but were held to only four points in the second period and were overtaken and passed 25 to 17. In the third quarter the Rockford team held a 30 to 25 advantage.

Steward got away to a 12-2 lead in the first canto against Mt. Morris Union Methodists and held the churchmen to only four points the entire first half while adding eleven more. In the third quarter the Methodists outscored their rivals 15 to 9 but their rally fell short of its mark.

Sterling Community A. C.'s team jumped into an 8 to 3 lead over Freeport in the first period and continued to hold the edge 12 to 10 at half time. In the third quarter Sterling outscored Freeport 12 to 7 for a 24-17 advantage.

Former Olympic Champion Meets Steele Tonight

Cleveland, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Carmen Barth, Cleveland's former Olympic boxing champion, meets champion, Freddy Steele tonight for the middleweight title, a scheduled 15-round battle which Barth says "is all even up with me."

Barth has never before been called upon to go over a 15-round route.

"But don't forget," remarked the youth facing his big chance, "the route is something to give the other fellow a lot of thought, too. It's all even up with me."

Quints Turn Toward Final Week of Competition Before Starting Tournament Ordeals

(Telegraph Sports Service)
Meridian and Green River Valley conference basketball teams wound up their schedules Friday night and looked forward to the district tournaments next week.
Steward of both the G. R. V. C. and Meridian circuits concluded its 1937-38 campaign by edging out Lee Center, 38 to 29, while Lee walloped Creston, 42 to 21, to end its Meridian conference drive with 12 victories against only one defeat for the entire season. In another game Franklin Grove atoned for a rather dismal season by drubbing Harmon, 31 to 12, in Kersten gymnasium, this being Franklin Grove's last game before the district meet next Wednesday.

Steward was trailing Lee Center, 10 to 8, at half time before its big guns, O'Donnell and Trowbridge, swung into action with 10 and 11 points, respectively.

In the Lee-Creston contest, Lee built up an 11 to 2 first quarter lead which it elongated to 16-4 at half time and 28 to 13 in the third frame. Harmon had little chance against the more experienced and older Franklin Grovers, trailing 11 to 3 at the end of the first frame, 17 to 3 in the half time intermission. The Maroon and Orange led 27 to 8, in the third quarter.

O's Apostles clung to the Rock River Valley conference lead by defeating Rock Falls, 23 to 19, to assure themselves of at least a share of the championship pudding. Mt. Morris downed Oregon, 25 to 19, and kept a strong hold on second place.

ADAMICK WINS SPURS AS RING FACTOR FRIDAY

Outpoints Thomas By Fair Margin, Shows Coming Ability

New York, Feb. 19.—(AP)—A year from now, if he doesn't happen to have an accident like fighting Joe Louis of Max Schmeling in the meantime, young Jimmy Adamick is likely to be a very strong factor in the heavyweight ranks.

The localistic fraternity, which was more than a little skeptical of the Detroit boy, passed that verdict after watching him beat tough Harry Thomas by a fair margin in his eastern bow last night at the Garden.

Jimmy wasn't, of course, the mauler he had been pictured by his well-known sponsor, Jack Kearns. But he proved himself a good, tough scrapper, with a better than average left hook and plenty of heart.

Anyway, it turned out later in the dressing room that Kearns had been grievously misunderstood when he said Adamick was "better than Dempsey." Everybody thought he was referring to the Dempsey of Toledo, but the good doctor straightened that out.

Corrects Himself
"Now wait," he said, "Did you see Dempsey when he fought Willie Meehan? That's the Dempsey I was talking about. Jimmie's that good, if not better."

The Associated Press scored seven rounds for Adamick and three for Thomas, with Thomas dropping one beat because of a low blow. The decision of the three officials was unanimous.

The high spot of the meeting for the scanty crowd of 6,500 came in the closing round, when the battered Thomas, appearing ripe for a knockout, suddenly lashed out with a right that caught Adamick flush on the jaw and sent the overconfident youngster reeling.

Thomas poured on the leather, and the critics found that Adamick could take it. Thomas let him have both barrels, right on the old button, as the Detroit kid floundered about. The crowd roared for a knockout. But Jimmy weathered it and came back punching. Thomas kept the upper-hand right to the final bell, though, and his comeback had been so game that the decision was booed.

CHEESE AND TAXES
Since the 13th century, Finland has been one of the greatest cheese-producing countries in Europe. In the Middle Ages, peasants paid part of their taxes to church and state in the cheese they manufactured.

HEADS OF EUROPE AWAIT SPEECH OF HITLER TOMORROW

Political Circles Guess At Content of Leader's Message

Berlin, Feb. 19—(AP)—Three weeks of wild rumors of momentous changes in central Europe reach their climax, perhaps with a sign of fulfillment, when Reichsfuehrer Hitler delivers his newest message to the world tomorrow.

The old, familiar question "what will he do next?" echoed in all the chancelleries and parliaments of Europe. But until Hitler himself should say, there was no official indication of what might be his plans or to what degree he proposed to reveal them.

His closest collaborators predicted it would be a "message of peace". Hitler also talked of peace in his Reichstag speech of March, 1936, in which he announced remilitarization of the Rhineland—and thereby made the Locarno security pact a dead issue.

There were both hopes and fears that he might state more precisely tomorrow his intentions in Czechoslovakia, where live some 3,000,000 pro-Nazi, Sudeten Germans, close to the border of Nazi Germany.

The propaganda ministry persuaded the official Czechoslovakian broadcasting company to carry the Reichstag speech throughout the Czech Republic.

Many in political circles felt certain Hitler would demand autonomy for Sudeten Deutsch (South Germans). The willingness to broadcast the speech was taken as an indication Czech Premier Hodza was willing to pay the price of autonomy to Germans in Czechoslovakia for peace with a powerful neighbor.

FULLILL PLEDGES

Vienna, Feb. 19—(AP)—The Austrian government announced today it had fulfilled all Chancellor Schuschnigg's pledges to Germany's Fuehrer Hitler by opening to Austrian Nazis membership in the fatherland front, the nation's only legal party.

Austria waits now for Hitler to declare in his Reichstag speech Sunday that he will respect Austria's independence, and that Germany will keep her share of the Schuschnigg-Hitler bargain for Austro-German cooperation.

"We have done our part, now it is your turn," is the Austrian view. Austria's publicly-known part was the naming of five cabinet ministers favorable to Nazi Germany, granting of amnesty for Austrian Nazi and other political prisoners, and finally opening to Nazis p-o litical representation.

Officials indicated that the least expected of Hitler, was a solemn declaration of respect for this nation's sovereignty, a promise of German aid to help suppress Nazi violence within Austria, and an assurance of economic cooperation.

While affirming by communique that Austria had fulfilled engagements undertaken in the Schuschnigg-Hitler meeting at Berchtesgaden a week ago, it was made clear Nazis must come singly to membership in the fatherland front.

They will not be accepted as a party or in a group.

ITALO-BRITISH FRIENDSHIP

London, Feb. 19—(AP)—Britain took a step toward friendship with Fascist Italy today, apparently leaving France alone to take the lead in any effort to check expansion of German influence in Austria.

The British cabinet struggled in urgent session with what was reported widely to be a crisis between Prime Minister Kneville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden over Chamberlain's new friendship gestures to Italy.

Some diplomatic quarters were informed the foreign secretary had threatened flatly to bolt the government if the prime minister sacrificed Eden's League of Nations ideals for a quick bargain with Italy's Premier Benito Mussolini.

One of Britain's outstanding labor leaders had urged Eden to resign from the cabinet in defiance of any "humiliating deal" between Chamberlain and Mussolini.

Herbert Morrison, former cabinet minister and secretary of the London Labor party, declared Eden was "a prisoner of his reactionary" colleagues.

Morrison, in his speech to the London Labor party in connection with a "peace and security" campaign, accused Chamberlain of "bias" in favor of dictators.

Voice Suspicions

Some observers believed Eden, deeply suspicious of Mussolini's motives in blessing Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's sudden agreement with Austria, was standing out firmly against negotiating with II Duce now without full guarantees.

Other quarters suspected Chamberlain of having determined to reach an agreement with Mussolini even at the cost of great concessions. Morrison voiced this suspicion.

"If the prime minister is trying to do a humiliating deal with Signor Mussolini on the basis of that gentleman's continuing his war upon the liberties of the Spanish people, then Mr. Eden, if he has any self-respect left, will resign and cease to act as a smoke screen for those of his colleagues

Sonja, the Surf Skater

It would seem that Sonja Henie just can't shake her skating habits, judging by the above picture of her, taken as she emerges from an ocean dip onto the warm sands of Miami's Roney Plaza Cabana Club beach. Sonja apparently is skimming the surface of the water with the same graceful swoop by which she glided to fame as the world's ice Queen.

who are determined to subordinate British security and peace of the world to Fascist foreign policy."

Britain has tried since the Spanish war began to get foreign fighters out of Spain, Italy, with a large number of Italians fighting for the Spanish insurgents, has been reluctant.

Italy, Britain has charged, has spread by radio propaganda harmful to Britain among the Arabic nations of the Near East. To combat this, Britain recently began Arabic news broadcasts of her own and plans for broadcasts in other languages have been formulated.

Recognition of Italian sovereignty over Ethiopia also would be an outcome of the proposed new friendship.

QUAINT ROMANCE HAS SANCTION OF BRITISH PEOPLE

New York, Feb. 19—The fragrance of English lavender and the rustic charm of old-world thatched roofs linger about the romance of Isabel MacDonald, daughter of the late Ramsay MacDonald, famous British prime minister, and a swain whose chief aim to fame is that he is one of the best darts players in the hamlet which he calls home.

The setting of this unusual story is, as should be, the ancient and picturesque Plow Inn at Speen, a happy little village nestled among the hedges of the Buckinghamshire farming district some 50 miles northwest of London town.

A couple of years ago the energetic Isabel became proprietress of this public house ("pubs," they call 'em), which has dispensed hospitality since 1621. It was here that she and the local handyman, Norman Ridgeley, met and fell in love.

The whole tale is such a delightful mixture that it surely must have popped from between the covers of a story-book. Still it is a sign of changing times that conservative England can nod and smile approval at a situation which would have made her frown a few brief years ago.

It is only since the World War that well-bred people could engage in such plebeian pursuits as running "pubs," or being handy-men, or having love affairs with lowly folk. Those things just weren't done—not without blasting the reputation of the reckless party.

CONNIE MACK EMBARKS UPON 55TH SEASON

Philadelphia, Feb. 19—(AP)—Connie Mack was all "pepped up" today.

The lean leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, who at 75, is tarding his 55th season in baseball, led a group of battersmen as they entered for Lake Charles, La., to open spring training.

"Yes sir, I feel all pepped up," Connie said previous to retiring for his last night in Philadelphia for several months.

"I'm going to take it rather easy in camp at first," he continued in an enthusiastic tone of voice. "You know I had a little setback after the Philadelphia sports writers dinner last month, but I've been making great strides lately."

Connie, "the grand old man of baseball," referred to the illness last September which kept him at home for several weeks. His confinement led to rumors he would retire, Connie spiked these reports at the sports writers' banquet by an hour-long speech in which he said "it is my intention to continue as long as I can."

Connie sees "no chance" of the Athletics winning the pennant this year "at the present time."

"But you can never tell," he added. "Sometimes a club develops over night."

"I am counting a lot on my pitchers. If Harry Kelley can regain his 1936 form, it will help a lot."

Salesman Charged With Perjury By Ohio's Governor

Cleveland, Feb. 19—(AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey announced today he had sworn out a warrant charging perjury against Lee Bradley, a salesman who had testified General Motors Corp. contributed $25,000 to Davey's 1934 campaign on a promise of half the state's motor business.

Gov. Davey, who had characterized Bradley's testimony as containing "slandorous falsehoods," said Columbus police had been advised to arrest Bradley.

Bradley, appearing Thursday before an Ohio Senate committee which has been investigating state purchases, declared the alleged arrangement with General Motors provided Bradley would receive 10 to 35 per cent commissions on sales to the state.

He said Davey was to receive half these commissions. General Motors denied it had contributed to Davey's campaign and called Bradley's story "silly."

The committee today invited Davey to appear as a witness.

Davey, calling the Senate investigation group a "Stalin committee," said in a statement:

"The so-called Senate investigation scoffs at the truth and the law, and has dragged the fair name of Ohio into the dirtiest mire of political trickery."

"I have deliberately initiated this action personally, and have chosen not to hide behind a grand jury action, in order that I may be held for false arrest if we cannot make an irrefutable case."

Davey declared Bradley "for nearly three years x x x has been trying to sell his alleged evidence to political opponents and enemy newspapers."

Wheat Insurance Against Droughts, Floods Proposed

The directors were M. L. Wilson, undersecretary of agriculture; Jesse W. Tapp, assistant administrator of the agricultural adjustment assistant to the secretary of agriculture; and R. M. Evans, culture.

LUCAS HOME ROBBED
Washington, Feb. 19—(AP)—The theft of more than $5,000 worth of jewelry from the Washington home of Rep. Scott Lucas of Havana, Ill., was reported to police last night.

Detectives found a ladder about 20 yards from the home. They said the burglar apparently climbed to the second floor while the family was at dinner downstairs.

MOUNT MORRIS DOINGS

Happenings in Ogle County City Reported for The Telegraph by Mrs. Pauline Yoe.

By Pauline Yoe

Harold A. Hoff, a graduate of Mt. Morris college, class of 1924, with an advanced degree from the University of Wisconsin, who for the past 11 years has been superintendent of the Milledgeville community high school, this week accepted the offer of the Mt. Morris community high school board of education to become principal of the local high school at the opening of school next fall.

"After interviewing a number of outstanding educators, Mr. Hoff was selected because of his remarkable record and his modern concept of high school education methods," members of the local board said. At Milledgeville, Hoff was superintendent of both the grade school and the high school, totaling approximately 320 students. His high school record includes a most successful student council, a well directed personalized vocational guidance program, and the constructive use of visual education aids.

Commenting on his educational methods, Hoff declared, "I am very much concerned that we develop each student to discover his aptitudes and abilities. For this reason I have developed a strong student council, student discussion groups and student assembly programs. It is through these contacts and organizations that students develop a sense of responsibility and pride in their school. I have also done considerable work along the line of vocational guidance for the juniors and seniors. It is very important to have students know about the various types of work they are best suited to do."

While at Mt. Morris college, Hoff majored in science and mathematics with minors in education and social science. To obtain his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin, he majored in the supervision of elementary and secondary schools, and for his minor he chose administration of public schools. Hoff now has a state life supervisory certificate, the highest grade of certificate given by the examining board of the state.

Hoff's record at Milledgeville is attested by Ralph A. Fahrney, president, board of education, Milledgeville community high school, who said of his, "He has been largely responsible for the excellent financial and scholastic standing of our school. As much as we regret having him leave we nevertheless recommend him for his outstanding record."

"It is the desire of the high school board to continue the excellent reputation of the local school developed under the capable leadership of Principal Ira R. Hendrickson, and to broaden its educational service which we are confident can be done under Mr. Hoff's direction." O. A. Hanke, president of the local board, said in announcing Hoff's appointment. The other high school board members are J. W. Robbins, secretary; Harry Baker, Ralph Thomas and Roy Cratty.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoff, with their 8-year-old daughter, will move to Mt. Morris early this summer. Mrs. Hoff is a sister of Mrs. Jay Bechtold of this city and like her husband, is a graduate of Mt. Morris college.

TEACHERS HOLD FINE MEETING; PICK OFFICERS

Neil Fox of Franklin Grove New President Lee Co. Institute

At Friday's meeting of the Lee County Teachers' Institute, held in the Dixon high school auditorium, Neil A. Fox of the Franklin Grove schools was elected president, to succeed Miss Clara Klapprodt of Amboy; Ray Walker of West Brooklyn was chosen vice-president, and Miss Esther Barton, principal of the new Lincoln school in Dixon, was made secretary-treasurer.

Members of the executive committee are: A. C. Bowers, Dixon; O. W. Funkhouser, Amboy; and Spencer Sanderson, Steward. Retiring members of the executive committee are W. S. McColley, Dixon; C. H. O'May, Ashton; and Maybel Stanley, principal of district 25.

Lynn Waldorf Speaks Speakers at the institute included John A. Bracken, superintendent of Clayton, Mo., public schools; Lynn A. Waldorf, football coach at Northwestern university, and B. J. Frazer, principal of Dixon high school. A group of recent high school graduates engaged in a panel discussion at the morning session.

Music for the institute, which was attended by 400 Lee county teachers, was furnished by students of schools throughout the county, under the direction of Orville Westgor, Dixon, and C. H. O'May, Ashton. Coach Waldorf discussed "The Educational Value of Athletics." The best argument in behalf of football, the speaker said, is the fact that it requires the best physical, moral and mental efforts of each player.

Says Sports Are Secondary Athletic effort must be secondary and supplementary to the educational efforts of schools in a well organized athletic and educational program, Waldorf declared. School sports must be controlled by the administrative body of the school and not by outside forces, he asserted.

Watching the development of the individual provides both the athletic coach and the teacher with a source of pleasure, the coach said.

RFC TO RESUME MAKING LOANS IMMEDIATELY

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, announced Friday the RFC would resume immediately the making of loans to "all deserving borrowers" whom the agency is authorized to aid.

Except for a few loans to railroads, the RFC has made no new loans since October.

Jones said railroads, industry, and all other types of business eligible under the RFC could qualify for loans.

Jones announced the lifting of the ban on lending while making public a letter from President Roosevelt.

The president told Jones it was his wish that credit be made available to all deserving borrowers, especially loans that would "maintain or increase" employment.

Jones said the RFC had available $1,500,000,000, but predicted "we won't have any demand for any considerable part of it."

He said he did not regard a "few hundred millions" as "any considerable part" of the total available.

There had been no change, he said, in collateral requirements since lending was suspended last October except that "we will try all the harder" to qualify every application that is made.

"That does not mean, however, that we will make a loan to every applicant," he said.

STRANGE AUCTION SALE One of the strangest sales was held recently in Ireland when Edinberry Town Hall, including the public weighing machine and weights, was knocked down to a bidder for $102.50.

Execute First White Man for Killing Negro

San Quentin, Calif., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Roy L. Righthouse, of Fresno, and Lee Grant Goodwin, of Los Angeles, were hanged simultaneously on the prison gallows Friday.

Righthouse was sentenced for luring Elma Estep, a nurse, to his home last Easter and beating her to death. Goodwin was convicted of killing Harry M. Crowther, Jr., during a holdup of a market in Maywood.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 19.—(AP)—The state of North Carolina put a white man to death in its gas chamber Friday for the killing of a Negro, and a few minutes later took the life of another white man for the poison slaying of his own daughter in an alleged insurance plot.

Milford Ekum, 39-year-old farmer, convicted of murdering Jim Williams, 60-year-old Negro basketmaker, in a robbery that yielded $4, was the first white man ever executed at the state prison here for murder of a Negro.

Edgar Leroy Smoak, 40-year-old railroad carpenter's helper, of Wilmington, died for the murder of his 16-year-old daughter, Annie Thelma, upon whose life he held a $500 policy.

SCOUTS BOARD OF REVIEW TO BE HELD HERE

Judge Grover Gehant today announced the Boy Scout board of review for Boy Scouts of the Dixon troops and also for Scouts from East Jordan and Prairieville. Each boy to come before the board is to present his test record card or application for merit badge or higher rank, as the case may be. All exhibit material that can be conveniently brought along should be submitted to the board as evidence of having completed the work.

The review is to be conducted in the county court room of the court house on Tuesday evening, February 22 at 7 o'clock. It will continue until all have been properly cared for and reported to the council for certification.

Assisting Judge Gehant, who is chairman of the Dixon division advancement committee for the Boy Scouts, are the following men: Edwin Wadsworth, W. C. Kleaveland, J. C. Ryan, Fred Hofmann and the advancement member of each troop committee.

The advancement committee will conduct a board of review for the Scouts of the above mentioned troops on the last Tuesday of each month from now on. This is being done so that the Scouts will have an opportunity to move forward in the Scout ranks at a regular rate and thus derive much more satisfaction from their Scouting experiences.

Experience, during the past 28 years in Boy Scouting has proven that the healthful troop has at least 10 per cent of its membership make at least one advancement each month. It has also proven that such a troop will have not more than 50 per cent of its total membership in the Tenderfoot rank and not less than 25 per cent in the First Class rank. Judge Gehant urged every troop in this division to make this their goal and start now to work toward it. He expects at least 10 per cent of each troop's membership at the board of review on Tuesday evening.

TWO DIED IN CAVE-IN Rockford.—(AP)—Walter Cronk, 40, father of seven children, and Ralph Roberts, 39, father of one child, were crushed to death by the cave-in of a sewer ditch where they were working on a WPA project.

A farmer of Cullinhill, Ireland, dug up, while plowing, a French silver coin of the reign of Louis XIV. It is a fair state of preservation and bears the date 1670.

HOCKEY MAKES VARSITY BOW ON ILLINOIS RINK

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 19.—Ice hockey will make its bow as a varsity sport at Illinois Monday night at 7:30 o'clock when the Illini pucksters will play a match with Notre Dame in the Illinois rink.

With a seating capacity of 2500, accommodations for all hockey fans are assured.

Notre Dame will bring a team which includes a number of experienced players. Bob and Jerome Magee from Buffalo, N. Y., have played with the Lake Placid club and Tom McKenna learned the game as a high school player in Saskatoon, Can. Joe Sullivan, from Littleton, Mass., has had experience as a prep player.

The Notre Dame center, Jack Frost, is from Littleton, L. I., and Greg Kelly from Chicago. Several members of the Irish squad played during this winter as members of a South Bend amateur team. The Irish have no rink and their practice has been held up by the recent lack of ice.

The Illinois squad, coached by Ray Elliot, who played in his prep school days in Massachusetts, seem to be even less experienced than the Irish. Dick Fee, left defense, has done considerable speed skating. Jack Berner and Frank Bell of the football team are among the reserves. Bill (Tiger) Kusz, former squadman, is another recruit from the gridiron.

The Illinois squad is composed of: Richard Babbitt, Riverside; Frank Bell, Purdy's, N. Y.; James Beaumont, DesPlaines; Edward Carlson, East Moline; Richard Fee, Floyd Neckrosh, Chicago; George Fieldhouse, Maurice Thompson, Pleasantville, N. J.; Ned Gardner, Rockford; William Hochschild, Evanston; William Kusz, Peoria; Charles Mettler, LaGrange; Paul Slater, Urbana; John M. White, Seymour.

The Illini will play three more games, all at home, as follows: February 25—Chicago. March 3—Minnesota. March 10—Michigan.

Coal Commission Modifies Certain Minimum Prices

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A long list of specified minimum prices were modified temporarily by the bituminous coal commission for 15 southern Illinois operators. The commission's order was made after operators complained they could not meet competition without modifications in the price structure for their area.

Reductions ranged from 10 to 35 cents a ton, officials of the commission said.

The companies involved are: Brewerton Company, Central Illinois Coal Mining Company, Consolidated Coal Company, Gillespie Coal Company, Hillsboro Mining company, Indiana and Illinois Coal Corporation, Livingston-Mt. Olive Coal Company, Marion County Coal Company, Mine B Coal Company, Mt. Olive and Staunton Coal Company, Nokomis Coal Company, Pana Coal Company, Panther Creed Mines, Inc., Peabody Coal Company and Penwell Coal Mining Company.

So many British burghers were using three-penny pieces to prime the coin-in-slot gas meters that the government had to make new coins — twelve-sided instead of round.

GRIMM PRAYS CUBS CAN SHUN INJURY JINX

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—All Charlie Grimm asks now is that the ambulance drivers forget about Chicago's Cubs.

As soon as he learned that the club's contract complications had been straightened out by the signing of shortstop Bill Jurgens, the jovial manager almost—but not quite—gave away to pure optimism. With all hands signed and sound of wind and limb, he opined the Cubs' 1938 outlook was "great."

He admitted, however, that he couldn't forget the staggering number of ambulance journeys his men took last season—trips which he believes kept the Cubs from setting up a big enough lead early in the campaign to withstand later misfortunes. Injuries deprived the Cubs of Pitchers Tex Carleton, Bill Lee, Curt Davis and Larry French. Catchers Gabby Hartnett and Ken O'Day, first baseman Jim Collins, and Jurgens, for long periods.

"I'm keeping my fingers crossed," he said, "but it doesn't seem reasonable that we'll have another string of injuries like last year's. Give the Cubs a good break in the early days of the race, and that's all I ask."

Grimm said he hoped he hadn't misunderstood reports on Herman Coaker Triplett, 23-year-old outfielder from Memphis of the Southern Association. If what he heard is true, he expects a lot of help from the young man.

"They tell me Triplett can hit any kind of pitching," he said yearningly.

1416 LOST PERMITS

Springfield, Ill., — (AP)—Illinois state highway police records showed that 1416 motorists have been banned from driving in Illinois since the Lewis law went into effect July 1. Sixty-two new cases were added to the police files this week.

INDIANA TESTS NORTHWESTERN HOOP LEADERS

Wildcats Head Into the Stretch With Six Wins In 7 Games

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Northwestern, the Big Ten's hottest basketball force, will defend its position at the head of the championship race tonight against Indiana, one of the league's hot-and-cold fives.

The Wildcats, short on man-power but long on endurance, head into the stretch-turn of the race tonight with a record of six victories in seven games and should be regarded as big favorites. In spite of Indiana's up-and-down record, the Hoosiers, who have won three and lost four conference battles, are expected to give the crippled Wildcats trouble.

Purdue Plays Badgers Purdue, in second place a full game behind Northwestern, tackles Wisconsin tonight at Madison, and could move back into a first place tie by conquering the Badgers, provided Indiana has one of its good nights against Northwestern. Ohio State, in third place with five victories and three defeats and very much in the scramble, will seek its second victory over Illinois at Champaign.

Michigan, still a contender, but showing signs of slipping since midsemester examination time, will shoot for its fifth victory in eight games against Minnesota at Ann Arbor. Chicago, loser in its last 33 Big Ten engagements, will try once more to connect with a conference victory, this time against Iowa on the Hawkeyes' floor.

Government economists say the orange crop this year will be the largest on record.

Bishop Waldorf to Open Union Lenten Services in Dixon

Bishop Lynn Waldorf has been engaged as the first speaker at the annual union Lenten services of Dixon churches which will begin in the First Methodist church, Friday, March 4. Rev. Howard P. Buxton reported today.

Lenten services will be held every Friday during Lent with the exception, Thursday, March 10, which has been set as a Lenten service date owing to the high school opera on Friday. The union service will include a three hour Good Friday service, Friday, April 15.

GETZ WILL FILE

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The will of George F. Getz, coal merchant and former treasurer of the Republican national committee, was filed yesterday in probate court. It left the bulk of an estate estimated at $700,000 to his two sons.

Getz, who died February 11 at Miami Beach, Fla., bequeathed $35,000 to employees of the Globe Coal Corp., of which he was chairman.

Gas masks in England are being produced at the rate of 650,000 a week, and 20,000,000 are now available for the civilian population in event of air attacks.
